Assignment #2

You now have a database with sample entries for 25 books, as chosen by you from the books spreadsheet.

This week your task is a commonplace DBA chore: populating the database with more than just a toy sample.

Write a script/program in any programming or scripting language of your choice.

Run this to create the SQL statements for populating the database with ALL the data in the books spreadsheet.

If you don't want to do this automatically, feel free to do it manually.

Submit the SQL file that populates the database fully.
